Konrad Kinard, the Texas-born composer, performance artist, and multi-instrumentalist known for his collaborations across avant-garde, Americana, and experimental soundscapes, releases his new single, "I Put A Spell On You" through Incinerate Media.

"I Put A Spell On You," releasing September 18, 2026 , through Incinerate Media, showcases Kinard's audacious approach to one of music's most covered classics. This version merges the intensity of Jay Hawkins' original with Nina Simone's emotional depth, creating what has been described as the "perfect amount of sexy/creepy." The basic tracks and vocals were recorded during the 2020 outbreak, with the final touches added later through unconventional methods that pushed his collaborators into creative territories. This tense, dark rendition captures the zeitgeist perfectly, offering listeners a timeless track filtered through Kinard's weird but wonderful vision of simplicity and accident.
